Judge J. H. Earle has at last decided to enter the race for the Senate against Evans. John T. Duncan, of Newberry, is also a candidate. Earle endorses silver and Tillman's course in the Senate. but will not go on the campaign if it conflicts with his judicial duties.

The announcement that Senator Irby would not stand for re-election created something of a sensation throughout South Carolina last week, and various theories were expressed as to why this course was taken. Irby realized that he could not be elected again, and it is believed that he will lend all his influence to defeat John Gary Evans.

Senator Tillman has been heard from on the bond deal. Treasurer Bates has published another statement in reference to the matter, and Gov. Evans, at the last Monday, told his side of the story, but the people are no wiser than they were before. The question-who got the commission?-has not yet been answered. Now let the bank checks, which are on record through the banks which they passed, be traced, and may be some light can be thrown on the transaction in that

The Republican National Convention has adjourned its work after nominating William McKinley for President and declaring almost unanimously for gold. Garrett A. Hobart, of New Jersey, was given second place. The silver contingent, headed by Senator Teller, of Colorado, bolted the Convention on account of the gold plank in the platform. The South Carolina delegation voted solidly for the gold standard. The proceedings were carried on in a very orderly manner. There was a vast deal of wire pulllag, but the man from Oblo seemed to control the reins and was elected with a whoop McKinley's nomination was corceded on all sides, though on several occasions it looked as if his chances were alim. The administration of Harrison was warmly endorsed in the platform. Last Saturday evening at 20 minutes past three o'clock, at his home in Walhalla, surrounded by his loved ones, in the full possession of his faculties, the unsullied, inviolate spirit of Ex-Judge J. J. Norton, freed from its environs, winged its way back to the God who gave it. Gently the golden cord was slipped from its moorings, noiselessly the pitcher was broken at the fountain, quietly and peacefully as strains of an oratorio, ebbed away a life serene as a Summer's day and as pure as snow-drop of the upper air. Born at Old Pendleton in 1835, educated by the distinguished teacher, Rev. J. L. Kennedy, at Pickens, and graduated at the University of Georgia, studied law at Greenville in 1855 under Ex-Gov. B. F. Perry, and was eminently successful. His strict, inflexible parental training was reflected in his high moral and religious character from his early youth, he having become an elder in the Presbyterian Church at the age of 21, and for forty years his interest and his love for the Church made him a pillar of strength unstintedly giving of his means to its support. In 1860 he was married to Tabiths A. Campbell, of Laurens, who with two daughters and one son, survive him. His gentleness, his affection, the Christianity of every day life, filled his home with Arcadian beauty, and floated out into Life's desert places. Generous, lib-eral and charitable his hand was never stretched forth but to succor and to save. He early espoused his country's cause going out at the head of Co. C, of Orr's Rifles, rose to the rank of Major, and at arm and received four other wounds. The rank of Lt.-Colonel was conferred upon him, but being disabled he returned home and served his country with no less devotion. Without canvassing he was elected a Representative from Pickens District, served with credit to himself and County and declined renomination on account of his distaste for politics. The tempt him, though the siren notes were never more seductive, Though young then, Destiny set its seal upon him, seeing that the temporary passion of popular clamor could not move him against the dictates of his own conscience, that he was a man of the people and not of the purple, and when the judicial ermine fell apon him he wore it gracefully and with dienity. Just, equitable, studious, courtous and courageous were all a tributes of his, and in exercising them he adorned the Bench as a pure gem the ring. An evidence of his strong, unconventional, elementary common sense and almost unerring judgment is the fact that few of his decisions were ever reversed by the higher Court. Since his retirement from the Bench he has been engaged in his profession, and at the time of his leath enjoyed a large and lucrative prac tice. THE NEW ROAD SYSTEM.

Anderson County is to-day rapidly orging head in the matter of good roads. Compared with other Counties in this State she is far ahead, but the good work will not be stopped here. When the Murray road law for this County was put into operation there was considerable opposition among certain classes, but this finally died out, and after careful consideration it was found to be a good law. By this means the County was given somewhat of a start over the other Counties, and the seed planted years ago is now beginning to bear fine fruit. Supervisor Snelgrove took in the situation and has gone to work in earnest to give the people the best road system that they have ever enjoyed. The system thus far has given entire and perfect satsfaction, and all the main thoroughfares in the County are being put in such condition that the farming class especially find it more of a pleasure than anything else to travel around more than ever be fore. Mr. Snelgrove talks very interest ingly of the work so far accomplished, and it is a matter of importance to the whole County to know what is being done in this direction. In speaking of this he says:

"We have only one squad of convicts in the difin the County, so, of course, in the dif-ferent townships the work has to be done with a small amount of hired labor. The road machines have gone over nearly the whole County and rounded up the public highways in good shape. As far as possible we will work out from the c in all directions, cutting down the nills, blasting out the rock that cannot be taken up with the machine, and eventually by hanging the location of the roads in ome places will get a number one sys-

This feature will prove a blessing in this County. At our amp we have 22 convicts, but this number will probably be increased after the enced. The camping outfit is complete. There is a substantial tent for the convicts 16 by 40 feet. At night the men are placed with their feet together chained nd guarded. The tent for the guards is 12 by 14 feet. By far the best arrangement is the portable kitchen built of corrigated iron and placed on wheels so that The kitchen is 7 by 12 feet, with a stove bolted down securely, and the car is ar ranged with shelves, tables, and every-thing necessary for cooking purposes Ventilation is provided by means of wire gauze doors. There is no way that I know sound money, and the party declares it- of that the roads can be worked better than with the road machines, especially if that machine be a Champion. The work can be done much better and cheaper than without them. The story is told of a man who always

The road machine has the advantage of doing away with all this rough and almost impassi ole part of the roads, and the work is left as smooth as can possibly be found. The task of trans orming a million miles, or more, of bad roads into good ones, a task which involved the disruption of century old systems, the development of new lines of legislation in all the tates of the Union, and in many even the changing their constitutions, and which has threatened to require an expenditure running into billions, has comas to be utterly hopeless; but it suddenly appears that the lew good citizens who have had the courage to attempt it here and there, have reason to be astonished ways and means been found without op-oppression to the taxpayer, but the actual cost of good road making has been brought far below the early estimates. Sixteen States have passed new road laws, more or less radical in their nature, he had lived, eloquently as the dying and one has amended its constitution to permit the adoption of such laws. Many hundreds of miles of good roads have al arated, under varying conditions and through various methods of administration, finance and construction. In the South more especially the question of better roads has been thoroughly discussed, and active steps have been taken to have the plans carried out. To get some idea of the work accom-plished in Anderson County in the last care. Guilty and sentenced to pay a fine six months, a representative of the In-TELLIGENCER visited the convict camp ast week and made a personal inspection. Other thoroughfares leading to Anderson have been put into fine condition. In the various townships the work has been Rifles, rose to the rank of Major, and at somewhat limited, but in every case it Fredericksburg, Va., in 1862, icet his left has been well done and shows splendid results. The township feature, as it is now worked in this county, is done with hired labor. An overseer is employed. together with as many men as are neces sary, and he is responsible to the Supervisor for good service. This can worked just as well if not better with the commutation tax, and through the County it has been a very easy matter to colimpossible to do so when the amount was just twice that of the present scheme In some Counties in this State the tax is two dollars and it is a hard matter to collect it, where if it was as the

Anderson tax it would be an easy matter The work in the County will be pushed with all haste so that before the winwill be in as fine condition as those alchines. The machines and the dollar tax have proved a blessing in the County, and the people are beginning to appreciate good roads. The need for better transportation facilities was met in the constant development of the steamship lines and railways, but the common roads the feeders of these great system of transportation and travel, over which every pound of the agricultural productions must pass before they can be mar-keted, have been neglected to such an extent that in the closing decade of this, lucid in thought, forceful and elegant in diction, and in brief a sound and excelperity that the world has ever known, we find ourselves with a system of high ways inferior to many of the civilized coun-

But the work of American road making is passing through a transition period. The constant agitation of the question in recent years by the press and through other channels, has at last par-tially awakened the people to the fact hearts. The generous, noble-hearted gentleman sleeps now beneath a mound of fragrance, but "if every one for whom he had done a kindness would come and that there is something radically wrong with our system of road making. They he had done a kindness would come and drop one-flower upon his grave, to night he would sleep beneath a wilderness of of roses." God rest thee, noble gentleunsystematic manner. We are informed by the County Treasurer that in a number of instances the special road or commutation tax was paid this year by boys between the ages of 16 and 15 years, before due knowledce was had of the change in the law. Others who were less prompt did not pay as the change in the law was published before time for payment expired. In order that justice may be done to those who reld through mistaks we recommend that all is w was published before time for payment expired. In order that justice may be done to those who paid through mistake we recommend that all amounts so paid through mistake be refunded, and that such action or legislation as may be necessary be had to carry out this recommendation. We further recommend that the Supervisor see after the enforcement of the law as to obstruction of drains along public highways

We submit with our approval the report of our special committee and expert appointed to examine the books and accounts of County officers, and we present T B. Earle, dispenser, and John A. Welch, clerk, for violation of the dispensary law. We have been informed that an attempt is being made to establish a dispensary for the sale of liquor at Pendleton within four miles of Clemson College, and as we are uncertain whether the establishment of such dispensary would be legal, while in our judgment it would be injurious to the best interests of the college, we recommend that the Solicitor be requested to examine the law on the subject, and if the establishment of such dispensary be illegal, that he take such legal steps as may be processary to present the same. the subject, and if the establishment of such dispensary be illegal, that he take such legal steps as may be necessary to prevent the same.

In conclusion we desire to tender our thanks to His Honor, the Presiding Judge, to the Solicitor, and the various officers of the Court for the courtesy they have exhibited and the aid they have given us i the discharge of our duties.

Respectfully submitted.

In the Supervisors once we extanded a great many of the claims and vouchers comparing same with Treasurer's vouchers. We also examined particularly into the Itemized accounts presented for approval to the Board of Commissioners. We found a number of instances in which claimants had made greater charges than allowed by law, but in every instance the Board had at icken out the illeral charges showing that the Board both but in every instance the Board had at icken out the illegal charges showing that the Board both understood and discharged their daty. The vouches and approved claims correspond, and the work of the office is systematically performed.

We spent much time examining the Treasurer's books and accounts and comparing them with those of the Supervisor, Auditor, School Commissioner, Dispenser, Pheriff and Clerk. We found all collections properly accounted for, and all expenditures evidenced by proper vouchers. In this office, and als in that of the Auditor, the officers in charge show a creditable effort, not only officers in charge show a creditable effort, not only to keep the accounts as required by law, but also to classify accounts and prepare summarized state-ments, so as to show at a glance how the individual or summarized accounts of the harpsy-rs stand.
We further find, so far as this committee could a-certain from its limited time, the accounts and books of the Clerk, Sheriff, Probate Judge and School Commissioner are properly kept, and that all money expended or received by them or through helr warrants, is expended according to law and properly accounted for helr warrants, is expended according to law and properly accounted for The dispenser has kept all his accounts and vouchers as required by las. We flud, however, that the law has not been compiled with in some important respects, and especially in the matter of signing and attesting applications for spirituous liquors. Book No 4s, containing 100 applications of April 20, 1896, has not a single signature attested by the dispenser or his cierk, and severa I other books have only about one-tenth of the whole number of applications attested. Some of the unattested signatures are made by marks, and a great many other signatures, while in the name of the party without mark seems to us to be in the handwriting of the cierk or dispensor. In some instances we found a record of amount of liquors instances we found a record of amount of liquor cold but no algusture or attestation. In one in-stance we found only the initials of the party signed and no attestation of that. Owing to the grave consequences that naturally follow any signed and no attestation of that. Owing to the grave consequences that naturally follow any illegal sale of spirituous inquors, the committee deem it their duty to present these facts to the Grand Jury for such action as may be deemed proper in the premises.

We further report that we have examined the bonds of the various County officers, and that we consider their sureties good and sufficient.

Diplomas were given to quite both male and female, who had finished their course in the above institution. The scholars all acquitted them-selves admirably, doing credit to the teachers and all concerned. State Superintendent of Education Glenn delivered the closing a dress, which was highly enjoyed by all. We think he struck the key note in many points of his instructive address. The only thing we witnessed during the day that in any way tended to mar the pleasure of the occasion was the behavior of a crowd of boys and young men on the base ball ground in the afternoon. The Anderson base ball team had been invited 5th. The Sunday School teacher, his to Hartwell to play a match game with the Hartwell boys, which they accepted, and instead of being treated like all gentlemen treat invited guests, they were jeered and sneered at, called all sorts of names, and in every way conceivable trying to inweek.

Our crops are doing well. We have had good rains. Cotton is suffering somewhat with lice; however we don't think it will result seriously. The corn crop is fine and in good condition. Early corn is being laid by.

The watermelon crop is promising.

Beans, potatoes, cucumbers, heets and blackberries are plentiful. No trouble to get up a good meal. We also have plenty of chickens.
One of Mr. Cooley's convicts escaped one night last week but was pursued, over-taken, arrested and brought back in a few hours by Messrs. 3. H Earle and Henry Howell. He was beading for his home in Abheville County. He was caught on the S. V. R. R near Latimer. This was the first one of Mr Cooley's convicts that had attempted to get away.

More murderers should be hanged; not necessarily all perpetrators of homicide. But they all should be punished as they deserve, according to degree, and punished quickly and fitly As it is now the most belinous murderers are most difficult to punish, and the greater number of the fellows who 'die upright in the sun" are those whose offences are least characterized by the essence of murder in the highest degree essence of murder in the highest degree-deliberation. We waste too much sym-pathy upon murderers. We do not yet use enough rope. The lex talionis is the only law that the human brutes can or will respect, and it must be applied by society in self-defence. The question is this—shall we kill the murderers or allow them, multiplying, to kill us?-St. Louis
